To be Buried at Bethany.

The remains of the late Alex. R. Chaplain, who was killed at Manila, will be buried this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Bethany.

Majestic Club's Hop.

Among the notable society functions that will take place during the week, will be the hop to be given by the Majestic Club, at their commodious quarters in the Hornbrook block, on Main street, on Wednesday evening. It will be the last affair given at the club until after the penitential season. The rooms are being elaborately decorated for the occasion with orange and blue bunting. In the ball room there will be a bank of magnolias, behind which an orchestra will discourse the dance music. Cards will be provided for those not desiring to dance and some spirited contests with the pastebards will occur. About sixty couples are expected to be present among whom will be a large contingent of Steubenville people.

Experienced Decorators Here For "Dewey Day."

The U. S. Flag & Decorating Co., of New York and Boston, office in Fishers' foundry building, No. 1620 Market street. They take contracts for decorations of all kinds for "Dewey Day," for business houses or residences. Large experience in this line of work in all parts of the United States. Had contracts for official decorations for "Dewey Day" at New York City and Montpelier, Vt., and Knights Templar Conclave at Pittsburgh, Pa. Did the decorating for the Pittsburgh Pure Food Fair, a short time since. A large stock of best strictly standard Bunting and Flags, Dewey Paintings, Naval Flags and everything appropriate for decorations for this week's grand event. Call at Fishers' foundry building, No. 1620 Market street, and see designs and get prices. "Dewey Day" is close at hand, and you should not delay.

LOAN EXHIBITION

Opens This Afternoon, When Everything Will be in Readiness.

GRAND DISPLAY OF ART WORKS

Curios, Relics, Tapestry, Pastels, Photographs, Statuary, Bronzes, Medallions, Etc.—The Biggest Thing of the Kind Ever Given in the City—Will Continue Throughout the Week.

The decorations for the Loan Exhibition, which is to be opened this afternoon at 4 o'clock, are about complete, and by the time the doors open all the exhibits will be in place. The various committees in charge of the affair were busily engaged at work at the Hawley building last evening and by midnight had things in apple-pie order. The exhibition is for the benefit of the City Hospital—a most worthy object, but aside from this no one can afford to miss such a magnificent display of fine art, curios, relics, tapestry, etc., that will be shown in the Hawley building this week. This affair is far and away the most notable one of its kind ever given in this city, vying with some of the pretentious museums of art in larger cities.

The following are the heads of the various committees in whose capable hands the work has been entrusted: Executive committee, Henry M. Russell; finance committee, Howard Haslett; insurance, Alfred Pauli; surveillance, executive committee; transportation, Henry M. Russell; press and advertising, Dr. Frank LeMoine Hupp; arrangement of rooms, Mrs. G. A. Aschman; committee on lights, E. W. Peterson; paintings, etchings and bronzes, O. C. Dewey; pottery and glassware, Mrs. James Cummins; art needlework, Mrs. Jacob Berger; committee on books, curios and relics, G. L. Cramer; floral committee, Miss Clara P. Forbes; committee on war relics, Colonel Robert White; cigar committee, Mrs. Florence Maude Heiskell. These are the heads of the various large committees, who have been indefatigably at work during the past few weeks, and who have succeeded in transforming the first floor of the Hawley building into a beautiful art museum.

The big feature of the exhibition will be the art department, which is under the chairmanship of Mr. O. C. Dewey. The walls of this room are literally covered with beautiful oil paintings. They aggregate nearly 350 paintings and their value runs up in the thousands. Among them are masterpieces by such well known artists as Correggio, Carlo Dolci, Teniers, Van Den Eycken, Vandylke and others. Then there are many etchings, pastels, works in water colors, etc.

The pottery and glassware department contains many objects of antiquity and interest that are well and admirably arranged. The department devoted to art needlework is another part of the exhibition that will attract much attention. Here are garnered all the rare and antique specimens of needlework extant in this neighborhood. In the section devoted to books, relics and curios, one finds a wonderful profusion of old books of every description, arrow heads, old newspapers, watches, snuff boxes, chairs, coins, jewelry and bric-a-brac in endless variety. In the space devoted to war relics, one finds guns, sabres, spears, etc., that were used in all the wars from the Battle of Thermopylae to the battle of San Juan hill. There is also a miscellaneous collection set aside to itself, lent by Mrs. J. Shan Margerum, of Washington, Pa.

Among the principal objects of interest will be the Oriental tent which has been constructed in a conspicuous place under the supervision of Ed. Franahelm. The tent is constructed entirely of printed muslin—sides, ceilings, hangings and borders—that were manufactured in Persia. It is not known what this tent will contain, but the committee in charge say it will be something that will delight mankind for the small amount of five cents.

Another interesting feature of the exhibition will be the smoking room. This booth is fitted out in Oriental style and the interior is as luxurious as the sultan's harem. This booth is in charge of Miss Maude Heiskell. The walls are adorned with pictures from Rome and Constantinople and other decorations from the Orient. This will no doubt be a favorite refuge for the male visitors to the exhibition.

It would be impossible to give any adequate idea of the extent and beauty of the exhibition in a brief newspaper article, but it is sufficient to say that no one would regret the time or money spent in visiting the Loan Exhibition this week. Supper and refreshments can be had and the building will open every day at 11 o'clock in the morning.
